

A THOUSAND AND ONE NIGHTS

EAST MEETS WEST IN ROBERTA REDAELLI'S AW
2025-26 COLLECTION

The new Autumn/Winter 2025–26 collection by Italian brand Roberta Redaelli, aptly named A Thousand and One Nights, invites a journey across time and culture, where East and West meet in a delicate dance of mirrors, reflections, and shared stories. The collection seduces with an exotic, timeless allure, blending past and present through an audacious mix of textures, prints, and fabrics that enchant both sight and touch.

Drawing inspiration from the opulent world of Ottoman fashion, the collection was sparked by a visit to Istanbul's Sadberk Hanim Museum, home to exquisite 19th-century Ottoman garments. The luxurious fabrics and baroque silhouettes sparked the designer's imagination, resulting in pieces that are at once simple and meticulously crafted, each a celebration of unique and sumptuous textiles.

Jacquard brocades, woven in the brand's innovative knit techniques, are paired with printed silks in unexpected patchwork combinations. The result evokes the grandeur of historical nobility, reinterpreted in a contemporary, minimalist key that surprises and delights with originality. A fine relief print overlays the jacquard, creating a subtle echo of the underlying pattern—a reflection of embroidery reimagined through avant-garde textile printing. The color palette draws from precious gemstones—topaz, sapphire, malachite, garnet—infusing the collection with vibrant, emotionally resonant tones that speak to the wearer with refined confidence and authenticity. Small, thoughtful details elevate each piece: colorful tassels, delicate tulle that drapes like a cloud, and retro-inspired fringes transform knits into must-have statement pieces.

In Redaelli's vision, fashion becomes a creative declaration, a way for clothing to embody a philosophy of life that places the woman at the center. Versatile, high-quality pieces allow countless styling possibilities, breathing new life into the wardrobe. Jackets—the brand's core product—take the spotlight, proving indispensable: effortlessly paired with jeans and sneakers, leather skirts, classic trousers, or bold, statement dresses. The only limit is the imagination of the wearer.

A Thousand and One Nights is an invitation to step into a faraway world, discovering the luxury of Made in Italy and fashion elevated to the level of art. Roberta Redaelli's AW 2025-26 collection is a masterful dialogue between cultures, a timeless journey across fabrics, colors, and dreams.
